About Your Creativity

If I may be spiritual for a moment. God said at the beginning, "Let us make man(kind) in our image." Then, He made us. People. One of God's attributes and characteristics is to create things, to be creative. If we are made in His image, which I believe to be correct and true, then creativity and creative ability is our attribute and characteristic as much as it is God's. It kind of sobers one to the think of the possibilities as you consider this. Creating things is in your destiny, in the very fiber of your being. And God follows through on this concept, as He continually inspires us to the greatness of creativity. "But there is a spirit in man (woman) and the breath of the Almighty gives him (her) understanding." Job 32:8

This is proven over and over to me through dreams. One night, in the last few months, I had a dream about my late sister Verna, and it was like a movie screen and I dreamed of her whole life, which was a fascinating one. I believe God gave me this dream. She was one of the early women's lib activists, fighting for equality in a man's world while being a single mom of 3 children and trying to put food on the table to feed them. This was back in the 1970s. Her life was a sad one, but she was beautiful and was an incredible person. My sister was like an Erin Brockovich, in real life, a role played by Julia Roberts. As I woke from my dream, I took detailed notes of the dream and I now have an outline to write a novel about my beloved sister. I see it as a movie also. You must see it inside before it can ever be manifested into this real world. That is the essence of true creativity. My thinking is that the same God who inspires the creative idea will help you all the way through the project, giving you wisdom and fortitude and the moxy to get it published, produced and into the public arena.
